A healthier Wales People's physical and mental wellbeing is maximized and health impacts are understood	Positive: Helps ensure that the contamination legacy of brownfield sites are appropriately addressed at the planning stage to make sure the site is fit for the proposed end use. In this way new Contaminated Land sites are not created and redeveloped sites are investigated and remediated, thereby ensuring public health is safeguarded on those sites.	A potential negative impact of revised strategy is that more progressive options may not be pursued because of potential very substantial resource implications. Strategy to be reviewed a minimum of every 5 years or otherwise in accord with new relevant legislation / guidance, so a change in financial landscape can be taken into account.

6. SUMMARY: As a result of completing this form, what are the main positive and negative impacts of your proposal, how have they informed/changed the development of the proposal so far and what will you be doing in future?

In 2002 the Council approved a Contaminated Land Inspection Strategy setting out its plans for identifying potentially contaminated land and prioritising any identified sites for remediation action.

Welsh Government provided Capital Support to local authorities to fund intrusive investigations at potentially contaminated sites and towards the cost of remediation. This funding stopped in April 2011.

Revised statutory guidance was published by Welsh Government in April 2012. This requires Strategies produced in accordance with previous versions to be updated or replaced to reflect current guidance.

The updated Strategy will as a minimum continue the approach of consultation between Development Control and Environmental Health Sections with respect to developments on potentially contaminated land ensuring new Contaminated Land sites are not created and remediating redeveloped sites where necessary – safeguarding the health of future generations using the sites. The Strategy to be reviewed within 5 years.
