Item 6: Qualifications Wales consultation

- Proposals at a glance for Humanities/Religious Studies
- To shape the range of qualifications for Humanities, we propose to:
 1. Review and reform GCSEs in Business, Geography, History and Religious Studies.
 2. If feasible, create a new GCSE in Social Studies.
 3. If feasible, create a new integrated GCSE in Humanities.
- Qualifications in disciplines related to this Area will continue to be available to schools and learners, provided they meet our guiding principles and do not duplicate the main made for-Wales qualifications in this Area.
- Link to Humanities webinar – March 4th

- It will be necessary to clarify the relationship between the new qualification and the proposed statutory requirement for all learners to study Religion, values and ethics (RVE) until they are 16.
- It may be necessary to change the title of the qualification to make the relationship clear; we will explore this when consulting on the proposed design of the new qualification.
- We will also consider whether a short-course version of this GCSE should continue to be available.
- If enacted, the Curriculum and Assessment (Wales) Bill would require most publicly-funded schools to follow a common agreed syllabus for RVE, while allowing some publicly-funded schools with a religious character to follow a denominational syllabus. So, any reformed qualification intended to support the RVE element of the Curriculum for Wales will need to be flexible enough to accommodate different local approaches.
- We will work closely with a range of different stakeholders, including representatives of different faiths and worldviews, to make sure we get the balance right.

Item 6:

Qualifications Wales Consultation

Consultation Questions:

1. How far do you agree or disagree with our proposals to review and reform GCSEs in Business, Geography, History and Religious Studies?
2. How far do you agree or disagree with our proposal to create a new GCSE in Social Studies, if feasible?
3. How far do you agree or disagree with our proposal to create a new integrated GCSE in Humanities, if feasible?
