61	9.1.5	Amendment	Delete the following text at paragraph 9.1.5: Following new evidence regarding the environmental impacts of phosphate in watercourses Natural Resources Wales (NRW) has adopted tighter targets for the water quality of the River Usk and River Wye. In this respect, development proposals have to ensure that there will be no adverse effects on the site integrity of the two riverine SACs, the River Usk SAC and the River Wye SAC, regarding water quantity, level and flow. In particular, development will not be permitted if it cannot be accommodated under the Review of Consents for flow in these rivers, including the maximum permissible percentage reduction from naturalised flow levels and hands-off flow conditions. Replace with the following text: The River Wye and River Usk and many of their tributaries are designated as a riverine Special Area of Conservation (SAC). As a result, the habitats and species that exist there have been identified as being of a higher value and requiring more stringent river flow protection. This level of protection has been determined through a process known as the Habitats Directive Review of Consents (HDRoC). The conclusions of the River Wye and River Usk HDRoC process have been integrated with NRW's principles of Catchment Abstraction Management Strategy (CAMs) to set the licensing policy on the Wye and Usk. The most significant abstraction pressure in the River Usk catchment is public water supply. Abstraction for this purpose accounts for approximately 94% of the catchment's total annual abstraction. The catchment is a key strategic resource for supplying potable water to much of South-East Wales and an extensive system of water transfers has been developed to distribute this water across the region. Aside from public water supply, the main pressure on water resources in the catchments is from agricultural businesses where water is required for trickle and spray irrigation and other agricultural uses.	Representations made by NRW (1412) note that the current wording confuses the issue of phosphates (i.e. nutrients and water quality) with water resources (i.e. water quantity and flows). NRW recommend focussing on water quantity and resources within the context of Strategic Policy S5 – Climate Change, while focussing on water quality and the on-going issue of nutrients in Strategic Policy S5 – Green Infrastructure, Landscape and Nature Recovery.
63	9.3.1	Amendment	Remove reference to 'highly vulnerable' from paragraph 9.3.1. The second sentence of paragraph 9.3.1 will read: In accordance with national guidance, S4 seeks to steer development away from flood risk areas, to assess the implications of development in areas of flood risk and to ensure that new development does not increase that risk of flooding elsewhere.	Updated to address representations made by NRW (1412) clarifying that national planning policy uses a precautionary framework which seeks to avoid all new development away from flood risk in the first instance.

Page	Paragraph, Table or Policy	Type of Change	Details of Change	Reason
63	9.3.1	Correction	Replace reference to TAN15: Development and Flood Risk (July 2004) with TAN15: Development, Flooding and Coastal Erosion (2025) and reference to the Development Advice Maps with the Flood Maps for Planning. Delete the last sentence of paragraph 9.3.1 – An updated version of TAN15: Development, Flooding and Coastal Erosion was published in September 2021 for consultation with the intention of it coming into effect in December 2021.	Updated to reflect the publication of TAN15 in March 2025.
63	9.3.2	Correction	Delete paragraph 9.3.2 which sets out the background to the publication of TAN15 which was in preparation at the time. Replace with: In assessing flood risk and development, development proposals will be required to satisfy national policy on flooding set out in PPW12 and TAN15.	Updated to reflect the publication of TAN15 in March 2025.

The second sentence will read: The SFCA, TAN 15 and Flood Maps for Planning have been used to help inform the spatial strategy and the identification of areas most suitable for development, with allocations made outside of flood risk areas.	Grammar

Paragraph 10.1.6 will read: 'Section 6 Duty and PPW12 also set out that development proposals must adopt a proactive placemaking approach to delivering multi-functional green infrastructure and ecosystem resilience, and this is required to be demonstrated by Local Planning Authorities through Green Infrastructure Assessments.
