1. Introduction

Welcome to the 2015-2016 Integrated Youth Offer Annual Report. I am pleased to present our second report which builds on the positive collaboration of youth support services across Monmouthshire. My compliments and thanks to all our members' staff and volunteers who have continued to provide excellent support and opportunities to young people in Monmouthshire, often in quite testing circumstances.

This year has been demanding for all partners as changes in staffing and funding have seen temporary pauses in some areas of work. This has not deterred the good will of all partners and during these times, have pooled together to support each other and continue to ensure young people receive quality services across Monmouthshire.

With the introduction of the Wellbeing of Future Generations Act 2015, we are mindful that we continue to work closely through collaboration, to ensure that services are relevant; tackle the issues identified and be an intrinsic part of creating a Wales that we all want for the future. This is an exciting time as young people have a significant part to play in building the future they want and through our support we will facilitate this.

It is very important that services are safeguarded for the future. Through mapping funding status of all services provided to young people, we will be able to gauge when funding is ending; how projects can collaborate and ensure timely notice is given where a project ceases. Support will be tailored and given to those projects identified and where possible, enable continuation in a manageable format.

During the year of 2015-16, Youth Support Service's in Monmouthshire have collectively supported and enabled in excess of * 6907 individual young people (39.9% of the population of young people 11-25 in Monmouthshire).

We offer a range of case studies to illustrate the ways in which the Integrated Youth Offer supports young people's progression, impact and outcomes from the services received. Case studies are a great way to illustrate and showcase the ways in which services support young people to develop personally and socially.

The work of the Integrated Youth Offer is focussed on priorities drawn from the Single Integrated Plan. Our work has a very positive impact on the lives of young people in terms of their:-

- Health and Wellbeing
- Learning and Employability
- Involvement in Decision Making
- Building resilience to be positive active citizens

Partnership working is crucial to all of our work. Through effective partnership working we are able to provide services that are relevant; meet local needs; avoid duplication and maximise efficiencies.

As we move through 2016 we will continue to ensure that young people can influence change, and safeguard services that meet their essential needs for the future.

I hope you enjoy the report

3. Outcomes and Trends

Outcomes achieved for 2015-16

The IYO reports quarterly to the Programme Board on progress made. Each quarter shows the distance travelled by each sub-group/project. In our 2014-15 report we set ourselves some priorities which have been the key focus of our work for 2015-16.

To date we are delighted to report that the following has been achieved:-

- Maintained quarterly monitoring and scrutiny of subgroup work programmes ensuring that we are meeting the Performance Indicators of the Single Integrated Plan.
- Ensured all services that provide opportunities to young people do so through Safeguarding procedure and protocols with an audit of all partners conducted annually to ensure compliance.
- Sustained and developed membership of the IYO to stimulate momentum. The full group and sub groups are well represented by all partners which enable the workload to be shared.
- Pan County events held for young people including a road safety awareness event held at in April 2016. This was held due to the recent fatal crashes Monmouthshire has had involving young drivers. Organised by the police and involving Fire and Ambulance services along with youth support services. An excellent event and well attended by young drivers.
- Monmouthshire wide involvement of Community Safety Officers delivering First Aid training in Monmouthshire Primary Schools in partnership with St Johns Ambulance
- Continued to develop 'community projects' in areas where specialist targeted projects support young people in particularly around issues of anti-social behaviour; criminal activity and bullying.
- In April 2016 a multi-agency volunteering event was held Chepstow Leisure Centre. Thirty one community organisations came together to demonstrate how people could be more involved in their community. 97 volunteers attended the event and declared an interest in the opportunities.
- Continued to contribute towards the increase in attainment and attendance of those in Key Stages 3, 4 and 5 across Monmouthshire and to continue providing services that decrease NEET figures – currently at 1.7%

Areas we have commenced work on:-

- To contribute to a county wide mapping of current transport available to young people after school hours; to identify gaps in service provision and work towards improving opportunities and services to enable young people to access youth support services across Monmouthshire. This work is a priority for all partnerships and requires a higher level oversight to enable this work to be carried out thoroughly and to ensure actions are taken to align transport effectively and efficiently in Monmouthshire for all community members.

Trends for 2015-16

The Single Integrated Plan Performance Framework give an indication of the direction of travel with regards to our collective priorities. It is useful overview of how we are performing and in some cases can show the trends emerging from data gathered.

Broad analysis tells us the following:

- We are sustaining our priority areas of work within employability, volunteering, specialist and diversionary work and involvement in decision making.
- We are increasing the number of young people engaged in youth support services in Monmouthshire.
- We are showing an increase in the number of young people accessing specialist, diversionary and targeted services across Monmouthshire.
- We are managing to sustain a good level of engagement with young people in the face of budget pressures and reduced capacity.
- We are increasing the opportunities available for young people to be involved in local decision making and ensuring their voices are heard.
- The number of young people achieving recognition for their learning through accreditation and who are volunteering continues to increase.
- Transport continues to be a challenge for our young people in Monmouthshire in particularly in rural areas.

Actions

We will use this data and collation of outcomes as part of our annual self-evaluation and agree the improvements to be made to address the areas where we think performance has dipped below anticipated levels.

Improvements will include:

- Ensuring consistent reporting through the IYO meetings by each sub group
- Agree key outcomes with each sub group
- Continue to share localised data with all partners involved in IYO in order to contribute to discussions about improving services and ensuring sustainability for the future

4. Case Studies: Specialist Targeted Support

Youth Offending

A young female was referred to the YOS in late 2015 for an offence of Assault against her female partner. As the offence was fairly minor in nature and was her first offence the young person was given the opportunity to engage in a Restorative Justice Disposal. Successful completion of this Disposal would result in the offence being recorded as No Further Action on the Police National Computer and would not result in a criminal record. The young person failed to engage in the RJD and was referred to the next level of the Youth Justice System which is Caution. Again the young person failed to engage in the process and missed two further opportunities to engage. As a result of this continued non-compliance the young person was referred to court for the offence. At court the young person was given a 3 month Referral Order for an offence that could have been dealt with much earlier in the system. Failure to comply at this level of the system would have more serious consequences and would result in the young person again appearing before the magistrate.

The young person was allocated to a female member of staff who met with her to carry out an assessment. The aim of the assessment is to identify what risks are present which could result in further offences taking place. One of the risks to the young person committing further offences was her lack of knowledge and understanding of Domestic Violence and healthy relationships.

As part of her Intervention Plan the young person attended Monmouthshire's LGBT group. On one of her first visits she listened to a visiting Police Officer who was giving a presentation on Domestic Violence. This talk enabled the young person to consider DV from both a perpetrator and victim's perspective. She realised that her previous relationship had been abusive, on her part and that of her former partner and, as a result of her behaviour, she had found herself in the Criminal Justice System. She continued to attend the group and made new friends and developed a new hobby. On finishing her Referral Order the young person commented on how beneficial the group had been to her moving forward with her life.

The young person also completed a Letter of Explanation to her former partner explaining how the offence occurred and apologising for her behaviour. The support she received from the YOS and the LGBT Support Group has enabled her to move forward with her life and recognise elements of unhealthy relationships and make better choices for her future.

Case Study: Employability and Learning

Careers Wales

A client was presenting with the following needs: already qualified to level 2 in Beauty, but focused on funeral /embalming work, which had been the case since she was a young age. S was quite 'closed' on first meeting, very reluctant to talk and very 'alternative'. She had contacted many funeral directors in her area with an enquiry regarding apprenticeship/placement following an initial careers interview on an earlier occasion, with negative responses. S was still presenting with this career aim at latest interview.

We discussed possible reasons for rejection in the Funeral sector; how her age could be a barrier and the lack of local opportunities, as these are often a family-run business. We discussed a range of barriers to build her confidence and that the rejection wasn't personal. We agreed not to eliminate this career choice, just put it on the back burner as a possible long-term aim.

Encouraged S to talk about her reasons for choosing her career idea, and to talk about what she enjoyed, made her happy, etc. Agreed we would start with her strengths, and work up from here to come up with a realistic plan to move her on. Conversation veered from focusing on 'Careers', and just let the young person talk. She started to talk about looking after her 2 younger brothers, both of which are autistic. She became very animated whilst discussing what she did with them. She used quite powerful words, and I then talked about my role in working with similar young people, the barriers they face. I then introduced the idea of her being good with children, and she used a lot of emotive words, specifying that she would love to work with children with difficulties. We talked extensively about this area of work and the challenges it can bring and the demands, however S she was undeterred.

We agreed she would try a level 1 childcare training programme with ITEC, starting the following Monday. I contacted ITEC to discuss the client (with her permission) and the suitability of the programme/placements. She was visibly smiling, and left saying, 'This has been REALLY good...I wish I had seen you ages ago !'

We agreed that studying for a level 2 in childcare at college wasn't out of the question, and that I would contact her in 1-2 weeks to review her thoughts about the programme and how we can build on her new pathway for the future.

Case Study: Volunteering experience of a young person

Volunteering experience of Harry Jones 16 years old from Caldicot

I started volunteering with a local Youth Club in March 2014 and it's really made a difference to me as a person. It's helped build my confidence especially when speaking with people.

I really enjoy it, particularly when someone new and quite shy comes along to the club for the first time and I am able to approach them and help them relax by challenging them to a game of pool or introducing them into one of the activities going on.

I first started volunteering because my brothers used to go along to the club and when I needed a placement for work experience I asked if I could go there. I enjoyed it so much I stayed on as a volunteer and almost two years on I still really enjoy it and knowing I am helping others keeps me wanting to be involved.

I would definitely recommend volunteering to anyone considering giving it a go. I always thought that if I didn't enjoy it I could always try something else because that's the benefit of volunteering you can try so many things and have so many different experiences.

I've also been able access training like St John's how to use a defibrillator which added to my levels of confidence and achievement.

Quote "My life has changed so much since I started volunteering – I find it so much easier to meet people and speak with them and I continue to learn skills that will help me in future as well as learning things about myself, like having more confidence in my abilities" Harry

Case Study: Letter of thanks from a Young Carer

Dear All, I'm struggling to know how to begin this letter because I don't want this to feel like I'm saying goodbye and I also don't want this to be lame or an injustice to what you and this project have done for me.

To think that nearly four years ago(?) I would barely speak to any of you about any of the things that were going on, despite how difficult they were, and I wouldn't use the project enough, thinking I wasn't "worthy" of the help or that other people "deserved" it more than me. Throughout this time I have learnt that to ask for help isn't a weakness and to let someone else support you or take the responsibility for a bit isn't a bad thing. I have learnt that some people actually do care and do want the best for you and do want to help you get to where you need to be; some people won't judge you for your past or your experiences but will take what they have now and push you in the right direction. All of these things I have learnt simply from being part of this project and they are most definitely some of the greatest LIFE lessons I've ever had, so will be with me and take me through the rest of life.

I have to say that the 1:1 sessions helped me through some really difficult things and some really difficult times. My only regret from these sessions is that (1) towards the end they didn't last long enough and (2) I didn't always use them enough, but that was entirely my fault and my own mind-set of thinking no one cared and that no one could help me. How wrong I was because as soon as you actively seek the help, it's often right under your nose.

Now I have to give the biggest shout-out to Jenny. You are like lightening!! Before I've even processed our conversations, you're calling me back with everything sorted and organised. I love that! Probably the biggest thing I am grateful for, from this project, is getting me to my university interview. I literally would not be even looking towards uni or planning anything around uni right now without you and the opportunity you allowed me to actually reach/fulfil. When I thought this project could give me no more and when I was really starting to lose hope in finding any funding or support from anywhere else, having searched for DAYS(!), and when things were really starting to get stressful regarding uni, the YC Team saved the day...AGAIN!!

I will always be an advocate for the YC Project and what I would say to any prospective YCs are there is, don't be afraid of the stigma that you think comes with being on such a project because it is largely non-existent as everything is done to keep things as discrete or open as YOU like. This project is yours so make of it what you want. There is no need to be anyone but yourself in this project and no idea or thought or emotion or situation is seen as ridiculous or unjustified by the leaders. I love each and every one of them and each and every lesson that they have taught me; I am much stronger and able and proud of my roots because of this project."

Case Study – Volunteering

Chepstow Girls Can project

Chepstow Girls Can saw 400 girls access sport through a project designed to increase female participation in sport. All girls in Chepstow School took half a day off timetable where they participated in sessions ran by community coaches. We welcomed former Welsh International Rugby Player Philippa Tuttiett after joining the Sky Sports Living for Sports scheme to run rugby workshops. The week long project culminated in a Zumbathon which raised money for Clic Sargent. An area within the leisure centre was also cleared and prepared to run girls only boot camp sessions through P.E using funding obtained by the Young Ambassadors through Monmouthshire Sports Development and Gavo Cash4U Grants to buy equipment and decorate the room to make it more user friendly.

The week was planned and coordinated by Gold Sports Ambassador and sport volunteer Hannah Wilding and supported by Silver Ambassadors Jess and Lydia Sariak along with Sport leaders from the school 6th form. Since then, we have developed and run a 'Chepstow Girls Can' Sports Camp which targeted 9-12 year olds. The camps attract over 30 girls who take part in Bootcamp, Hockey, Yoga, Zumba, Pool Activities, Healthy Eating Workshops and finish with a beauty session run by a local beautician.

Local clubs involved in the week have seen an increase in female memberships, with one club in particular seeing 5 new numbers joining.

Case Study: Positive Futures – Specialist Targeted Support

Positive Futures is a Sports based social inclusion programme targeting ‘the most at risk young people’ across Gwent. In Monmouthshire this programme is being managed and delivered by Monmouthshire Sports Development in partnership with Monmouthshire Youth Services and the Youth Offending Service who make up a Targeted Support Sub Group of Monmouthshire’s Integrated Youth Offer Group. The alternative education programme aims to offer positive alternatives to substance misuse and anti-social behavior through awareness workshops and sports and activities and hopes to create a culture of respect, motivation and increased self-esteem and making young people aware of the quality services available in their communities.

During the last 12 months the Alternative Education Programme has engaged with 25 secondary school referrals with 205 attendances equating to 427 hours of engagement. The workshops delivered have included Bullying, Alcohol and Drug Awareness, Consequences of Anti-Social-Behavior, Anger Management and more whilst continually developing the young people’s self-esteem. Following the workshops the group have been participating in a range of activities including Cricket, Dodge Ball Fitness Suite/Gym, Frisbee Golf, Wii Sports and more.

On completion of the programme one young person commented How:

‘She enjoyed participating and felt she benefitted from being in a group situation (CH has anxiety of being around crowds and her PRS lessons are with only one other student only), how she learnt new things and that she was better able to cope with a subsequent difficult circumstance which reflects a shift in her ability to deal with high risk situations’.

5. Priorities for 2015-16

The next twelve months will see the Integrated Youth Offer group and sub groups focusing on the following priorities:

- Critically examine funding and commissioning of Youth Support Services across Monmouthshire. Having this data will assist us 'thinking ahead' and enabling the protection of services for young people; create increased joined up working; where projects are ending that clear exit strategies are in place and where possible source and secure external funding to provide services to young people.
- To support the national Eisteddfod during the summer of 2016 and to enable young people to experience the welsh culture and language this festival brings
- To ensure all partners of the IYO complete the SAFE audit for Safeguarding which will increase our level of awareness and scrutiny, and enable support to partners in achieving all key areas.
- To create a system of Quality Assurance measures to ensure all services to young people in Monmouthshire meet a required standard
- To merge our current Report card to reflect the Wellbeing of Future Generations Act to ensure all work carried out demonstrates immediate and future impact for services to young people
- Raising awareness, developing new and strengthening existing services available to those most vulnerable young people, and those within the protected characteristics.
- Continue to contribute towards the increase in attainment and attendance of those in Key Stages 3, 4 and 5 across Monmouthshire and to continue providing services that decrease NEET figures.
